4th Sunday

we're all in this TOGETHER

Have you ever tried to move a couch with someone who wants to go left while you are determined to go right? Somehow, the couch ends up stuck in the doorway, someone is laughing, and someone else is saying, "I told you so!"

Working together isn't always easy. We have different ideas, different personalities, different gifts, and occasionally, different opinions about how things should be done. (And that's okay!)

This Sunday, we are thinking about what it means to be "In Full Accord." It doesn't mean we all have to think alike, act alike, or agree on every little thing. It means we are willing to work together toward something bigger than ourselves.

That's especially important in a small church. Every person counts. One person may sing, another may teach, someone else may cook, clean, greet, pray, fix something, organize something, or simply make someone feel welcome. Even the person who remembers where the extra supplies are deserves a special award!

When we each do our part, big or small, we become stronger together. We may not always move in exactly the same direction at exactly the same speed, but we can keep our hearts and our purpose pointed the same way.

So let's keep showing up, helping out, encouraging one another, and making room for others. After all, church is a whole lot more fun when we're doing it together!

During a children's sermon, a youth pastor tried to use a classic riddle. He asked the kids, "What is gray, has a bushy tail, and gathers nuts in the fall?" Silence filled the room as the children hesitated. Finally, one little boy raised his hand and said, "I know the answer is supposed to be Jesus... but it sure sounds like a squirrel." 🐿️ 🤔
